

Centre for Contemporary Coronial Law

Welcome

The Centre for Contemporary Coronial Law embraces the University's 'Teaching Intensive, Research Informed' (TIRI) agenda by committing the Law School to provide legal education and research in the important area of coronial law which has nationwide reach to all professions who interface with the coroners' service.

Our objectives

- To provide a unique area of legal education and research within the University's School of Law
- To foster and develop legal education in the specialised area of coronial law
- To promote good coronial law and its practical application in the coronial process
- To gain research funding
- To actively undertake and publish legal research
- To liaise with the Coroners' Society and the Chief Coroner

Proud to work closely with

- Coroners
- Legal Practitioners
- Medical/Healthcare Practitioners
- Police
- Medical Examiners
- Fire & Rescue
- Ambulance Services
- Regulators/Inspectors – HSE/CQC/IOPC
- Coronial Law Specialists
- Post-graduate Research Students
- Any other person or organisation involved in the coronial process
